Exploring & Thinking

Bursary Award 2019

Introduction

Exploring & Thinking is a collaborative framework for early childhood arts in the Dublin region. It came about in 2016 when the four Dublin Local Authorities (Dublin City Council, Fingal County Council, South Dublin County Council and Dún Laoghaire-Rathdown County Council) partnered for the first time to collectively consider early childhood arts provision in the Dublin region.

Objectives

- To support artistic ambition in cross-artform collaborations, professional development, and the research and creation of new work in early childhood arts
- To reach new early childhood arts audiences in under-served communities and neighbourhoods
- To stimulate dialogue between Dublin Local Authorities, artists, early childhood educators and organisations
- To build on current research investigating practice across artforms, professional disciplines and context
- To generate advocacy in early childhood arts

Our Priorities based on our Values are:

- Access with an emphasis on under-served communities and neighbourhoods
- Quality of practice that is evidence and standards based
- Positive impact on artistic practice and the wider early childhood sector
- Focus on artist that is responsive to emerging and established practitioners
- Sustainability with actions that are achievable, realistic and measurable

Background

Each Dublin Local Authority supports early childhood arts practice, provision, partnership and policy that is responsive to local motivations and need.

In 2016 the project partners made a successful application for Arts Council funding under the Invitation to Collaboration Scheme, which supports innovative and ambitious local authority collaborations. The joint proposal focused on commissioning and touring new artwork to the four local authority areas, with local engagement programmes in arts and non-traditional arts venues.

Through the implementation of Exploring & Thinking 2016/2017, the partnership commissioned the research and creation of new artworks.

In January 2019 the partnership hosted a public sharing event at the National Concert Hall to share the commissioned work and reflect on early childhood arts practice with artists, educators and policy makers.

A publication capturing a review of the commissioning process, outputs and impacts of the collaborative framework, alongside additional research conducted among the artists and key personnel was presented on the day.

Informed by the review and feedback from the public sharing event, the Exploring & Thinking Partnership Bursary Award aims to support emerging and established artists that wish to develop a practice in early childhood arts.

Purpose of the Bursary Award

Early childhood arts includes a wide range of different arts practices and creative experiences with / for children aged 0 –5 years in different contexts.

The Exploring and Thinking Bursary Award supports individual professional artists to develop their artistic practice working with and/or producing work for early childhood arts.

Eligibility

The Bursary Award is open to:

- Individual professional artists who wish to develop their practice in early childhood arts
- Artists practicing in all artforms
- Artists resident in Ireland

Artists do not have to be based in Dublin, but the bursary proposal should articulate how this support, in turn, will impact existing early childhood arts practice in the Dublin region.

Proposals can include, but are not limited to:

- Professional development, including travel
- Seed new ideas and partnerships
- Access mentoring
- Research and development of new work
- Residencies
- Access to a recognised and relevant postgraduate course

All successful bursaries need to be completed by year end 2020.
